

Tahoe Glyphosate Spray Alert

Spraying of the controversial synthetic herbicide glyphosate is happening at record levels in California's public forests, and the Forest Service has said that its large-scale use in Tahoe forests could begin in less than two years.

Glyphosate is classified as a probable human carcinogen by the World Health Organization, and a key safety study cited by the Forest Service in support of glyphosate use was retracted last year. Yet the Forest Service plans to proceed anyway.

Learn more, speak up, and stay aware at:

TahoeSprayAlert.org

